WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 17, 1863.

Hon. A. A. Sargent.

We are glad to notice that this able and industrious member of Congress is so well appreciated in California, that earnest efforts will be made to nominate him as the Union candidate for Governor, against the pretensions of the office-holders' clique. His faithful services at Washington in behalf of the interests of the Pacific Coast were unquestionably of more value than those of any other representative, and it would be a shame if such a public servant was driven into retirement, because he will not conspire with the vampires who fatten on official spoils in plans for controlling the Union party for personal ends. The Nevada Transcript warmly advocates his claims, and at the same time gives a just reproof to the political managers who are trying to "boss the job" of making nominations. We copy it in part, for the benefit of the crazy and conceited officials in this State who have undertaken a similar business:

Since his return to this State Mr. Sargent has indicated to his friends an indifference about accepting any position of public importance, and has been importuned without stint to become a candidate for Governor and for Congress, but on all occasions has expressed a wish to be allowed to devote himself to his private affairs. We do not know that he would accept the nomination for Governor if it were tendered him. We write this wholly without consultation with him. But things are taking such a shape in the State; this man's dirty fingers and that are seen so prominently in the business of Governor making, that we are impressed with the idea that it is time the people take hold of the matter, and insist on putting a first-class mind at the head of the State Government. This is our own individual opinion, and no one else is responsible for it. It may be too late to effect any good purpose. It may be that the political pins are all set. It may be that a few men are going to rule the State as was done in the days of Gwin. But Nevada county can at least show her good will towards her distinguished fellow citizen by electing delegates who will vote for Sargent whether he protests against it or not. It will be a laudable act in any light in which it may be viewed. The times require that the machinations of politicians and the leverage of the Custom House should be broken. The will of the State has been thwarted on more than one occasion by a miserable knot of men who have made politics a trade and fattened on the spoils thereof.

The Attack on Fort Sumter.

It will be seen from the following letter, that the Navy is not satisfied with the experiment in April, and attributes the repulse to the indecision of Admiral Dupont. We presume that this feeling is also entertained at Washington, as the telegraph recently announced, his recall and the appointment of Admiral Foote as his successor, who we feel sure will never retire from any engagement he undertakes, "so long as there is a shot in the locker."

Steamer New Ironsides, off Charleston, (S. C.,) May 5th.—There is here great dissatisfaction and chagrin manifested at the result. Nearly all the officers here seem to think that the place can very easily be taken with a very few iron-clads if it is attacked in the proper way.

Little or nothing was said in any of the reports about the amount of damage done the enemy, and it may not be uninteresting to many to know that Fort Sumter was so much damaged as to render it almost untenable.—On withdrawing from the conflict one of the Captains said that that face of Sumter looking toward the city was very seriously damaged; that several of the embrasures were destroyed, and that several shells burst in the casemates. This statement was corroborated by the pilots. They considered the greatest damage done to that face. The eastern face can be very distinctly seen from where we are now stationed, and I have time and again scanned it closely with a glass, and could see two of the middle tiers of casemates knocked in, and of the lower tiers heavy shot or shell knocked off large portions of the embrasures, and of course entered the casemates. In several other places there are large holes in the wall very distinctly seen.

As soon as our iron-clad fleet withdrew from within the bar, staging or scaffolding was erected by the rebels on the two sides spoken of, and since that time they have been very busy repairing damages. Thus a period of almost a month has been employed by the rebels in repairing the fort, and they are still working at it.

Was the fort injured? All this would seem to say that it was. Yet in the face of this evidence there are persons who say that we did the rebels no harm, and that the fort was not injured. This was done by about 150 shots. The Ironsides did not fire a gun at Sumter. She fired eight at Fort Moultrie, although she was under the heaviest fire for more than an hour, and was struck between sixty and one hundred times. If she had been using her guns all that time instead of lying with closed ports under the heavy fire of the enemy, the forts might have been almost silenced, as her broadside is equal to four Monitors, and her officers and men would have had the satisfaction of knowing that they did something toward the reduction of the forts; but even that little satisfaction was denied them. Thus the strongest ship and heaviest battery that ever floated, built at vast expense to the Government, and on which the greatest hope and expectation of the Government and nation was centered, was permitted to go in and remain under the most destructive fire ever known for more than an hour, fire eight guns at something—South Carolina, I suppose—come out totally uninjured, "nobody hurt," to go out in the Atlantic ocean blockade and wait until the Government sends—not more iron clads—but a man to take Charleston.

We ask why Charleston was not taken, and we are told here that the iron-clads are failures; whilst some of the Northern papers say it was the President and Secretary of the Navy who were to blame. Thus this miserable, disgraceful failure is made a new weapon to wield against the Administration, and those here who have the control of affairs have not made even the shadow of an effort to wrest this important place from the hands of traitors. Fort Sumter is the only casemated fort here, and all the open forts could be silenced by this ship alone in a very few hours. Morris Island had only two batteries—Fort Wagner and Cummings' Point. The latter was silenced and had its magazine blown up by only two shells. There was but one man killed in the fleet, and yet there are those who say Charleston cannot be reduced, and the iron-clads are failures. There is still a mystery connected with this affair, which time alone will clear up, but there can be little doubt that there is a combination against iron-clad vessels for one thing. A man seldom tries very hard to do a thing which he does not want to do, and I can see no reason to blame the Government for the failure. I think Admiral Dupont alone is to blame. We had plenty of vessels; in fact, more than could be used to advantage, as was demonstrated on that day. I would venture to say that two or three iron clads would do the work, if properly managed. Considering, then, these circumstances, it would be folly to despond. We have gained very valuable information of the strength of the rebel works, and proved that our iron-clads cannot be injured by shot the best in the world, excepting our own fifteen-inch shot. Let us take consolation from the fact that we have the means now in our hands to humble and destroy this vile nest of treason—that the Government has done its whole duty, and that Charleston will be ours just as soon as there is energy enough infused in this Department to make a real, earnest and zealous attack.

As for the crew of this ship, we long for the day when we will be allowed to train our guns on the powerful batteries the rebels are now building on Morris Island, almost under our very guns. All we want is permission, and conquer or die is our motto.

A blockade runner has stated here that the rebels were leaving Sumter when our fleet withdrew, and that two shot which went into the casements killed and wounded fifty rebels.

On motion the Board adjourned to meet on Monday, September 14th, 1863, at 2 o'clock.

CHESTER N. TERRY,
Corresponding Secretary.

Rebel Negro Soldiers.—The naval attack on the rebel batteries at Grand Gulf, on the 20th of April, seems to have been a very hard-fought affair. Our killed and wounded amount to seventy-six, and the damage to the gunboats was considerable. The Tuscumbia, a turreted ironclad, was completely riddled in every portion not protected by plating. Her chimneys were perforated until they resembled huge graters, and her woodwork was torn and splintered in every conceivable shape. Her turrets alone, in their thickest parts, were able to resist the projectiles hurled against her. She was finally disabled by a shot that cut one of her bog-chains, by which, in river phrase, she was "broken in two." The Lafayette proved herself the most formidable as well as invulnerable vessel of the fleet, for though struck a number of times, she was not in the slightest degree injured. The entire number of rebel batteries in the works was ten, each of which mounted from three to five guns. The point we wish specially to signalize, however, in connection with this affair, is that the guns in this formidable series of rebel works, which caused such casualties to our sailors, and such damage to our river ironclads, "were in the main worked by negro troops." Is it not horrible that the rebels should thus arm their slaves to slaughter white men and destroy the Union?—N. Y. Times.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to June 10th.

New York, June 8.—A special dispatch says the number of soldiers whose terms expired, and who have left Hooker's army, already reaches over nineteen thousand. As a partial set-off five thousand from convalescent camps have been sent to the field.

New York, June 8.—In accordance with a call issued four days since, a meeting of editors was held to-day. Horace Greeley presided. Brooks of the Express, Prime of the Journal of Commerce and others were present. Resolutions were adopted to the effect that we recognize and affirm the duty of fidelity to the Constitution, Government and laws of our country: that treason and rebellion are crimes; that while we emphatically disclaim and deny any right as inhering in journalists to incite, advocate, abet, uphold or justify treason or rebellion, we respectfully, but firmly, assert the right of the press to criticise freely and fearlessly the acts of those charged with the administration of the Government and of their civil and military subordinates, and that any limitation to this right created by the necessities of war should be confined to localities where hostilities exist or are immediately threatened.

A public meeting was to be held at Liverpool on the 3d of June, to pay a tribute to the memory of Stonewall Jackson.

The ships Dorcas, Prima, and Union Jack, from New York for Shanghae, and the Sea Park, from Boston for San Francisco, and the whaler Nye, had been captured by the Alabama.

Richmond papers report gold at 600 premium, and silver at 550.

A report was current there that the Federal forces were evacuating Suffolk and throwing up heavy fortifications eight miles from Norfolk, and that the greater part of Peck's forces have been sent to Hooker.

John A. Bingham of Ohio has been appointed U. S. District Judge for Florida, vice Marvin, resigned.

Admiral Dupont will probably be assigned to duty in the Gulf Department.

New York, June 9.—New Orleans correspondence says that fears are entertained that General Neal Dow, wounded at Port Hudson, will die.

Advices to June 4th, from Port Hudson, have been received. Everything then looked favorable to our final success.

Cairo, June 11th.—A dispatch dated Walnut Hills, Vicksburg, June 5th, says Gen. Johnston took possession of Yazoo City on Sunday night, 31st May, and Gen. Grant sent a large force that had a skirmish with the rebels at Saratoga. They took 30 or 40 prisoners. The rebels fired one volley and then fled. Union flags have been seen hoisted on several houses between Yazoo and the Big Black. The bombardment continues. A fire in Vicksburg on Monday night, June 8th, destroyed large quantities of commissary stores, which must prove a serious loss to the rebels. A sortie was made on McClernand's line on the night of June 3d. There was sharp work for a few minutes, when the rebels withdrew inside their fortifications.

New York, June 11th.—The Post says a committee of citizens who recently visited Washington to lay before the President a project for raising 100,000 colored soldiers, report that he fully approves the plan, declaring himself ready, as soon as a sufficient number can be raised, to make them a part of a command for Gen. Fremont. If it should be deemed necessary he will create a department, so as to enable him (Fremont) to carry out this combination of black and white regiments. A series of meetings will be held in the rural counties, to initiate the measure.

Exchange firm at 155@156; gold irregular and unsettled, opening at 42, declining to 40¼, advancing to 43 and closing at 42¼.

Washington, June 11th.—A Poolsville letter of to-day says, 250 rebels crossed the river at daylight this morning, and dashed rapidly up to within three miles of Poolsville. The enemy then retreated in the same direction they came, burning picket camps in their retreat. We lost two killed and one wounded; rebel loss five killed.

It has been ascertained that the rebel cavalry at Culpepper, so severely handled in the recent engagement, are now supported by large bodies of infantry and artillery. We have nothing in regard to the recent fight except the imperfect accounts already telegraphed.

Chicago, June 11th.—A letter from rear of Vicksburg, June 5th, says the expedition up the Yazoo, landed at Sotoyah, had a fight with 2,000 rebels and fell back. Other regiments coming up, we attacked and defeated the rebels and took one hundred prisoners.

No change before Vicksburg. Gen. Johnson is still reported on the Big Black, trying to cross below the bridge, with an army estimated at from 20,000 to 30,000 men. Gen. Osterhaus is watching his movements, with a sufficient force to checkmate any demonstration in that direction.

A rumor is circulated that Pemberton had requested Grant to permit the women and children to pass through his lines. More than 3,000 head of cattle and mules had been turned out side the enemy's works, on account of no feed.

New York, June 11th.—The Philadelphia Enquirer has a letter, dated Port Royal, (S. C.,) which states that Col. Montgomery with the 2d negro regiment, had defeated the rebels at Potolaligo.

New York, June 11.—Gen. Brooks has been appointed to the command of the Monongahela, consisting of that part of Pennsylvania which lies west of the Laurel Ridge, with the eastern counties of Ohio and northern counties of Virginia.

Washington, June 11.—Recent semi-official telegrams from the rear of Vicksburg, state that rebel deserters and prisoners named yesterday as the last day the place could possibly hold out. Statements are made in private letters that the works defending Vicksburg are much stronger than those at Sebastopol. This is not mere guess-work. Admiral Porter, who was in the Crimea while the siege of Sebastopol was in progress, declares the Vicksburg fortifications stronger than those of Sebastopol.

A portion of Gen. Stahl's cavalry, which was sent to make a reconnoissance towards Blue Ridge, arrived safely at Murfreesboro yesterday. They went through New Baltimore, and at Front Royal encountered 300 rebel cavalry, whom they drove off. At Barton's they met 300 rebels, whom they charged and routed.

Capt. Hanson, of the 3d Pennsylvania, returned yesterday from a reconnoissance to Upperville. They did not encounter any force of the enemy at all. They learned that Moseley was expected there with 300 men and three pieces of artillery. They returned with about fifty prisoners and a number of horses.

Richmond papers of the 6th report all quiet at Vicksburg. They give Mobile telegrams of the 4th, saying that we had been repulsed at Port Hudson, with the loss of an arm to Gen. Banks.

New York, June 11.—Advices per Catawba state that 5,000 reinforcements from Brashier City and other points, had arrived on the 30th and 31st of May; and our troops there outnumbered the rebels four to one. The rebels are hemmed in, and no succor can reach them. Their force is variously estimated at from 6,000 to 10,000, well supplied with corn-meal, but a small supply of ammunition. It is believed impossible for them to hold out much longer.

Cairo, June 10.—Dispatches from Jackson, Mississippi of the 5d, to the Mobile Tribune, state that: Port Hudson is closely besieged. The news from that quarter is conflicting. The Yankees have abandoned the New Orleans and Jackson railroad, burned the Machec bridge, and destroyed the fortifications there.

Columbus, Ohio, June 11.—The Democratic Convention met in this city to-day. Ex-Gov. Medary presided. On motion of Dr. Olds, the Convention proceeded to nominate a candidate for Governor. C. L. Vallandigham and Hugh J. Jewett were put in nomination. On the first ballot, Vallandigham received [illegible] votes and Jewett, [illegible]. The nomination of Vallandigham was then made unanimous.

Philadelphia, June 11.—The following was received by mail from Washington, June 10th: Two dispatches were received to-night from Gen. Grant addressed to gentlemen in high positions. The dispatches are dated June 9th. One important fact, and one which relieves us of much anxiety, is derived from them, namely, that Grant was in communication with Banks as late as June 4th, at which time Port Hudson was closely invested. Gen. Grant reports what is already known or believed, that Johnston is concentrating his troops to operate against him. He mentioned a report that three divisions were moving from Bragg to reinforce Johnston. Breckinridge was known to have joined the rebel commander. Vicksburg is still closely invested, and the siege progressing favorably. The tone of the dispatches is represented to be such as to show that Grant neither fears the enemy in front nor in the rear, and will protect his lines at all hazzards. It is presumed that he did not know at the date of the dispatches whether he would be reinforced or not. This information inspires increased hope and confidence in the final success of the siege.

Washington, June 11th.—An unofficial dispatch from the vicinity of Vicksburg received to-day, states that the rebels in small force attacked Milliken's Bend and Young's Point, on the 6th of June, but were decisively repulsed at both points. The colored troops at the former place gave way, but hearing that some of their numbers were captured and killed, they rallied and routed the enemy.

The Ladies' Fair.—We take great ple ure in reminding our readers of the admira entertainment provided for them this even at the Gymnasium Hall, by the ladies Trinity Church, and we trust that all w love the fair managers and their assistant (and who is it that does not?)—will gener ly participate, and by their presence and li eral patronage encourage and gratify the most wishes of the ladies who have tak great pains to deserve success. The Hall h been beautifully decorated; the articles sale are useful and elegant, and will be di played in the most attractive manner by irr sistible persuaders, and the purpose: the c lection of a fund sufficient to repaint, repa and otherwise improve the Episcopal Churc is one in which, as a public benefit, every c izen is interested. Fairs are great insti tions; everybody ought to attend them—fo of mirth, good sense, graceful beauty, and ra tional pleasure, they afford glimpses of earth Paradise, not often vouchsafed to poor huma ity, and though one never realizes their f value if he goes with an empty purse, or com away while any thing is left in it, yet we ar sure that on this occasion every body will cordially welcomed, and will have the privi ege of buying only what is needed or fancie We hope, therefore, to see the Hall crowde and we know that whoever stays away wi lose an opportunity of doing good and o be ing good, not easily found again, thoug "sought carefully and with tears."

Circuit Court—Tuesday, June 16th.—Th following cases were heard and determined:

State of Oregon vs Nathan Arnott—indi ed for stealing a horse—proved to be a geld ing, and prisoner discharged.

State of Oregon vs Andrew Hunter, (bett known as Scotty,) indicted for setting fire city jail; verdict not guilty by reason of in sanity.

Wm. M. King vs State of Oregon; verdi for plaintiff, $920 96.

Lloyd Brook vs Wm. E. Cooper, judgme for restitution of possession of real estate.

L. Merriam vs C. & J. Goodnough, judg ment for $404 56.

Wm. P. Doland, County Treasurer, vs Cha Wilson and sureties, judgment on forfeitu of bond, $1029.

Theatrical Troupe Benefit.—The Ben fit given to Portland's favorite Theatrica Troupe last night, was a grand success—som 350 persons being present. The play wa well rendered, as usual, each member of th company acting well their parts. On Thurs day night will be presented a very fine play entitled "Carpenter of Rouan, or the mas of St. Bartholomew." This play ought t attract a full house.

Ex-Gov. L. Jay S. Turney arrived in this yesterday, on a canvassing tour for Delegate to Congress. Can't say whether he had the promise of any votes in this section or not.

That Cane.—That individual, be he man, woman, or juvenile, who took and refused to return that brown colored hickory sword-cane, deserves the withering and certain condemnation of an indignant "printer."

Masonic Celebration.—We understand that Wasco Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons will celebrate the anniversary of St. John's Day at the Dalles on Wednesday next, the 24th inst., by address and dinner. The exercises will take place in the afternoon, immediately after the arrival of the Portland boats, so that brethren from this vicinity will be enabled to participate in the celebration and be absent only two days.

Those who insist that they are for a "vigorous prosecution of the war" and yet do nothing but oppose the means by which it is to be successfully carried on, add self-stultification to disloyalty. One of these fellows was declaiming at a meeting in Kentucky the other day to the effect that he "was for putting down the rebellion; but not a man or a dollar would he give if the party in power adhered to its present policy." Whereupon a jolly old secessionist in the crowd roared out "Hurrah for you! that's the way we are for putting it down!"

The position of the growlers could not have been more happily stated. They adopt the course of all others the rebels most want them to adopt. In no other way could they be so serviceable to their Southern masters. By no other means could they tender such essential "aid and comfort" to the enemies of the country. To raise the standard of revolt directly would be to subject their necks to the halter. But they may stealthily undermine the foundations of public confidence and credit without serious peril to themselves. And this is what they are employed to do and what they are doing.—Albany Journal.

Agency Notice.—Mr. L. P. FISHER is our only authorized Agent in San Francisco to receive advertisements, and transact business for the DAILY and WEEKLY OREGONIAN. Office—No. 713½ Washington street, nearly opposite Maguire's Opera House.

Fair.—The Ladies of Trinity Church in this City will hold a Fair at Armory Hall on Wednesday evening next, at 7½ P. M.

The public generally are invited to attend.

N. B.—Contributions of flowers brought in on Wednesday will be gratefully received.

A Favorite Remedy.—We believe no medicine in the world has ever given such astonishing proofs of its efficacy as DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM. In cases of severe Coughs, Bronchitis, and incipient CONSUMPTION, this medicine acts in the most prompt and agreeable manner, restoring health when all other remedies have failed.

DR. D. JAYNE'S
EXPECTORANT
AND SANATIVE PILLS

HAVE BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC SO LONG, and found such general favor in every region of country where they have been sold, (and there is no place on the civilized globe where they have not been sold) that it would seem almost superfluous at this time to direct attention to them through the medium of the press. Yet it is due to suffering humanity, and especially to that numerous class who, in the changeable climate of the Pacific Coast, suffer from inducing and ending in CONSUMPTION, many of whom may not have used this remedy, that they should be allowed to read of some of the cases where its influence has been useful in remedying complaints from which they are suffering. The EXPECTORANT

Operates immediately upon the Disease,
SURELY AND SPEEDILY ERADICATING IT,

while the SANATIVE PILLS, by preserving regularity in the bowels, and giving a healthy tone to the other internal organs, aid and assist the perfect operation of the former.

Attention is asked to the following Certificates, selected at random from the mass in the possession of the proprietors:

UPPER UWCHLAND, Chester Co., Pa., Sept 15, 1858.

DR. D. JAYNE—Having been afflicted with ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS, and having the advice of some of the most eminent physicians, whose skillful treatment of my case did not prove to be of any avail, I obtained no relief for my suffering until I commenced the use of your EXPECTORANT. After taking it for about three months, I was entirely cured.
NATHAN PENNYPACKER.

ASTORIA, Long Island, Jan 15, 1860.

L. W. TINSELL, Esq. New York—Sir: As you well know I had been afflicted with BRONCHITIS accompanied with the most painful tightness of the chest, and great difficulty in breathing for nearly two months, and I had almost lost all confidence in the power of medical science, when at your friendly suggestion, I began the well known (but not enough known) "EXPECTORANT," of Dr. Jayne, of Philadelphia. Three or four days after having commenced to take it, my cough had nearly subsided, the expectoration was easy, and the breathing quite free.

I am now quite another man, and my general health has never been better.

I remain, my dear Tinsell, with esteem, your servant and friend,
J. B. MONTE.

WINFIELD, Tuscarawas Co. O., May 31, 1860.

DR. D. JAYNE—Dear Sir: One bottle of your Expectorant cured my daughter of the LUNG FEVER, after having been beyond the hope of recovery. During the attack she had a number of convulsions. She is now perfectly well.
J. H. COFFMAN.

BURLINGTON, Bradford Co. Pa., July 23, 1863.

DR. D. JAYNE—Dear Sir: My son was for one and a half years afflicted with a disease resembling CONSUMPTION. For two years he was not able to labor. He was finally induced to try your EXPECTORANT and PILLS, and after taking 10 bottles and some PILLS, was completely cured, and is now able to labor every day.
JOHN HENRY.

We would add to the above that we sold to Mr Henry the medicine for his son, and know that the statement is true.
MERRY, WILHELM & CO.

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhoea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

The Impromptu Marriage

(Concluded.)

Another instant and Charles had thrown off his coat, and calling out loudly, "Tell the Captain not to allow the wheel to stir, and to lower me a rope!" he sprang into the river. But of her whom he was risking his life to save, he was unable to perceive any trace.

Judging that the current of the river might have carried her a little forward, he swam around the wheel, but still he saw her not, and despair seized his heart as he conjectured that she might be under the boat. He strained his eyes to see through the water, and at length discerned, far below the surface, what seemed the end of a floating garment, lodged between the wheel and the rounded bottom of the boat.

If this were indeed the unfortunate girl, the least movement of the wheel must inevitably crush her, and Charles, in his terror, fancied it was already beginning to turn. He dived and clutched at the garment, but missed it. He rose panting and almost exhausted, but scarcely waiting to get breath, he again plunged under. This time his efforts were rewarded with success, at least so far that he was able to bring Susy's form to the surface of the water, but she seemed totally lifeless.

Charles was now so nearly exhausted that he had only sufficient presence of mind left to clasp Susy convulsively to him while he kept himself afloat by holding on to the wheel.

But this, his last hope of support, seemed also to fail him soon, as he perceived that it was now really beginning to turn slowly round. By a desperate effort he struck his foot against one of the paddles so as to push himself as far from the danger as possible. As he did so, something touched his head, and his hand grasped a rope. New life seemed now infused into him. He gathered all his energies, and fastened the rope round Susy's waist, consciousness then entirely forsook him.

In the meantime the witnesses of the scene, after giving Charles' directions to the captain, had watched his struggles and exertions with breathless interest. The friendly rope had been flung to him again and again, but in the excitement of his feelings and his semi insensibility, he had been incapable of availing himself of the offered aid.

At last perceiving that he was quite exhausted, and must inevitably soon let go his hold on the wheel, and then probably sink to rise no more, the captain judged it best to run the risk of moving off, so that a small boat could be sent to the rescue.

The result of this hazardous experiment was successful. Susy was raised by means of the rope, and a boat reached Charles in time to save him also.

Both sufferers were taken on board the steamboat, which now rapidly moved off to make up for lost time.

And thus, when our hero regained his consciousness, he found himself many miles from home. Of course, his first anxious inquiry was for Susy, and when informed that she was rapidly recovering his happiness seemed complete. He showed his contentment by turning over and falling into a deep quiet sleep.

About sunset a message came to him that Miss [illegible] desired to see him.

He found her lying on the sofa in the Captain's state room, which had been given up to her. She looked very pale, and somewhat suffering, but she held out her hand to him very gratefully, while the tears stood in her eyes.

"Charles," she said, without offering a word of thanks, "I want to see a clergyman, is there one on board?"

"I will go and see," said Charles, moving to the door, but a dreadful thought striking him, he turned, exclaiming, "Susy, you do not think——"

"That I am going to die?" said she, anticipating him. "No Charles, but I want to see a clergyman."

Charles went, and soon returned accompanied by a minister.

"I thank you sir, for coming to me," said Susy to the latter as he entered. "I have a strange request to make of you. Would you object, sir, in the presence and with the consent of my mother, to unite me to that gentleman?"

If the minister was astonished at this request, Charles was infinitely more so.

"What did you say, Susy?" said he. "Did I hear aright?"

"I believe so," said Susy, smiling at his eager amazement. "Does the scheme meet your approval?"

"It was Heaven inspired," cried the poor fellow, frantic with joy, but a shade coming over his radiant face, he added, "Remember, I want your love, not your gratitude. I will be satisfied with nothing less."

"Do not be concerned about that, dear Charles," replied Susy, gazing at him very tenderly through her tears, "be assured you have them both, and had the first long before you had the latter."

"But, Susy, you said only yesterday——"

"Never mind what I said yesterday," interrupted Susy, with some of her old spirit breaking out. "Just mind what I say to-day. If I was a fool once, is that any reason I must be one always? But indeed, dear Charles," she added more softly, "I have always meant to be your wife, the only scruple I have is that I am not half good enough for you."

It is needless to say how this discussion ended. The reader has already divined that Charles continued his journey, and thus in the course of one eventful day he risked his life, saved a life, made an impromptu marriage, and set out on a most unexpected wedding trip.

Rebel Speculations and Groans.—The Richmond [illegible] contains the following editorial:

There is evidently to be an active summer campaign. The plan of the enemy seems to be to keep our attention constantly excited at every point at once, [illegible] that no part of our whole military frontier may be freed from the urgent and immediate apprehension of an attack. Then they can strike where they think our line is the weakest or where our defenses are least prepared, and if repulsed they can retire and direct a blow at some other quarter. In the meantime they can bring much plunder, and cause much sorrow and heartbreaking among our people by expeditions through thinly peopled regions destitute of troops. They can also force more and more of our people within their lines to take their hated oath for a quiet life and save their property from confiscation. They can devastate and rob us within our own border, and prepare all the while for serious assaults and deliver them just when they are ready and where they choose. It is hard to say at what point they are most active just now. If one looks southwestward it would seem the State of Mississippi is the region of most extensive operations. Immense armies are gathering in and around Vicksburg, and while preparations are in progress for a new assault upon that place, the back country is devastated and the people plunder by cavalry raids, but at the very same moment Charleston is kept on the qui vive by energetic preparations for another attack by sea or land, or both at once. The object may only be to prevent Gen. Beauregard from sending away any of the troops which now defend Charleston. At the same instant Gen. Burnside threatens East Tennessee, and Hooker largely reinforced, is expected to cross the Rappahannock somewhere or anywhere from Culpepper to Port Royal to keep some of our forces employed in the defense of Richmond.

Reinforcements are being sent to Fortress Monroe and the enemy's gunboats are harrassing North Carolina.

A Good Missionary.—A correspondent of the S. F. Bulletin, writing from Lapwai, Idaho Territory, concerning the Nez Perces Indians, observes as follows:

Much credit is due to Mr Spaulding for their friendly disposition towards the United States, and for the rapid advancement of the Nez Perces in civilization and industrious habits. I learn from Capt Williams who is in charge of the flouring mill at the Lapwai Agency, that twenty thousand bushels of wheat have been ground for the Indians since last harvest, all of which was raised by themselves. Almost every family has a small farm in cultivation, where they raise almost all kinds of vegetables. Mr Spaulding came among them as a Missionary in 1836, and remained here for fifteen years. Many of them have become true Christians under the teachings of their devoted and pious friend. He soon learned their language and through his untiring zeal for their welfare, procured a small printing office from the Sandwich Islands in 1843, and translated into their language portions of the bible hymns, prayers, and a primer and spelling book. Many of them have learned to write their language. Although now an old man the interest of Mr Spaulding in the welfare of these people is unabated. He has devoted the best years of his life to them and justly feels proud of the result of his labors. May he live many years to continue his good work.
